LEGISLATIVE HIGHLIGHTS

The thirty-first Legislative Assembly which adjourned on March 3, enacted into law several bills which have some effect upon the Department of Public Welfare. Among them are the following:

House Bills 123, 126 and 128.

These laws relate to adoption of children. The department is designated as the licensing agency to issue licenses to approved agencies which will arrange for the adoption of children. The laws designate some of the adoptive procedures to be followed by approved agencies and by the courts. They provide certain safe-guards which will give added protection to adoptive parents as well as to adopted children.

House Bill 54.

This law provides that maximum payments of $50.00 per month in Old Age Assistance and Aid to Needy Blind cases do not apply after July 1 and provides that payments in excess of Federal maximums be paid entirely from state funds. The Department will set up standards of assistance to facilitate the removal of maximums. This will entail setting exact money amounts to be allowed for each item in the budget. Certain administrative maximums must be applied for payments to persons in hospitals, nursing homes and boarding homes.

House Bill 372.

This law provides that silicosis benefit payments will be $50.00 per month rather than $40.00 per month, beginning with July. The law also provides that a person who is engaged in a gainful occupation other than intermittent or occasional light work, will no longer be eligible for silicosis benefits. At present one must be engaged in manual labor to be disqualified.

House Bills 95, 96, 97, 98, 99 and 100.

These laws represent minor changes in the Public Welfare Act as it relates to the general administration of the program and to several of the categories. The changes provide for clarification of the wording of the law in relation to the authority of the county board to establish the amounts of payments in individual cases; a clarification of the wording of the law relative to repayment to the federal government on recoveries from the estates of deceased recipients of Old Age Assistance; elimination of the "suitable home" requirement as an eligibility factor in Aid to Dependent Children; a provision that a person 21 years of age or under who develops an eye condition requiring medical treatment may be eligible for such treatment without meeting the usual residence requirements; provide for an extension for two more years of the extra 4 mill levy for poor fund purposes in the counties meeting the required conditions and provide that the state department shall make all foster home payments in full, and shall in turn receive reimbursement of $\frac{1}{2}$ of each payment from the counties concerned.

Senate Bill 106.

This law, effective March 1, allows vacation privileges to all state, county and city employees. The vacation plan under the Merit System has been adjusted to be in full conformity with this law. However, the new law is substantially the same as the Merit System plan, and will not result in appreciable change so far as department employees are concerned.
